Mini-Tastes for 10

Kim Morock, Carey Collingham, Spring Creek Prairie Audubon Center

Ten lucky guests will get to enjoy a private mini-Tastes experience out at Spring Creek Prairie Audubon Center, on a date of their choosing in the next year. Catering will be provided by Kim Morock, whose business Tastesfully Yours provided premier catering for the Tastes event for the last 8 years. Guests will be serenaded by cellist Carey Collingham while they enjoy fine dining, drinks, and a completely exclusive evening on the tallgrass prairie. The evening will include whatever activities guests may desire at the prairie, and will conclude with a bonfire and s'mores.

Kim Morock and Tastefully Yours have been recognized as Lincoln's premier catering provider for many years. Now that Kim is enjoying her first year in retirement, she is sharing her talents and skills with the Spring Creek Prairie Audubon Center Tastes in the Tallgrass committee, co-chairing this year's event. Excited to continue practicing her catering wisdom, she will be creating a custom menu for this private event package.

Carey Collingham started playing cello at age 3, has won numerous competitions, held many first-chair positions, and has played at over 500 events in the Lincoln community. Aside from his professional work with Audubon Nebraska, he still enjoys finding opportunities to exercise his music performance degree, and is excited to combine the two for this unique package.

Many thanks to Kim and Carey for their continued support of Spring Creek Prairie Audubon Center. Package winners will schedule their evening with SCPAC staff.
